Meet the press in Colorado

Presidential press corps moves forward to interview Secretary of State Henry Kissinger on his arrival at Vail, Colo., to confer with President Ford Friday night. Kissinger reported "some progress" in Washington talks with Israeli Ambassador Simcha Dinitz on interim Israeli-Egyptian accord. Ford is vacationing in Colorado at his favorite resort.

U.S. aid cut over cycle helmets

SACRAMENTO - The federal government has let the state of California know it means business about demanding a motorcycle helmet law.

Brad Crittendon, regional administrator for the National Highway Safety Administration, said the State Office of Traffic Safety has been given only one-fourth of its expected $6.7 million annual federal being withheld.

State officials have confirmed that the money has been withheld, and as a result they have no funds to pass along to local jurisdictions which wish to implement new traffic safety programs.

The $1,683,183 received by the state agency will enable it to continue its operations through September, said G. Van Oldenbook, planning and Traffic Safety Office.

"We've been told the balance is being withheld pending the outcome of a Sept. 12 hearing in Washington," he said.

Assemblyman Paul Carpenter, D-Garden Grove, earlier this year intro-duced legislation requiring the wearing of helmets, but said he dropped it "after I was persuaded that the helmets were a wash, that they were as dangerous as they were protective."

At slow speeds, he said, helmets are a protection in an accident. But at faster speeds of 50 or 55 miles per hour or faster, the possibility of neck injury is great enough to out-weigh any protection the helmet gives the skull.

"I have no plans to push my bill," Carpenter said. Gov. Brown met Friday with actor Steve McQueen, a motorcycle buff, and discussed motorcycle helmets. The governor said after the meeting with the heavily bearded McQueen - who slipped out a side door and escaped a horde of breathless Capitol secretaries — that he had not made up his mind on the need for legislation.

Fuel hike 'small price to pay for waste,' Ford says

VAIL, Colo. — President Ford said Friday that Americans who had been energy 'squandering'' should accept increased costs of gasoline and other fuels as "a very small price to pay" for longterm solutions to energy problems.

As forecast by the White House, the President announced in an energy address to the fifth annual Vail Symposium that he would remove the additional fee of $2-a-barrel that he had imposed on imported crude oil if Congress upheld his impending veto, also an-nounced Friday, of a measure retaining price controls on domestic oil.

Ford conceded that the net effect of the abrupt end of domestic price controls on Aug. 31 along with the lifting of the import fee would be another increase "of a few cents a gallon" in retail prices of gasoline and other petroleum products.

"painful as they are, high-er prices do promote conservation, and higher prices do promote increas-ed efficiency in the use of petroleum products" in a society that he said had failed to realize "we've had so much at such a cheap price."

The U.S. Court of Appeals ruled earlier this week in Washington that Ford did not have the authority to impose the $2-a-barrel (ce, and the Department of Justice announced Thursday that the decision would be appealed to the Supreme Court. But Ford's appeal will be based on legal grounds. and his aunouncement Friday that he would lift the tariff was based on economic considerations. The President accused the Democratic-controlled Congress of "intolerable" delay in devising a com-prehensive national energy program and said "the gressional approach to energy is hazardous, expensive and very frightening."

At the same time, he acknowledged in reply to questions from some of the 600 symposium participants he addressed in a dining hall atop 10,327-foot Vail Mountain, that the public was not enthusias-tic about the administration's energy proposals. "I think we've tried," Ford told a questioner who asked what could be done to persuade the public of, the need to conserve energy resources, "but I must confess that we haven't been as successful as we should have."

"What I'm trying to say," the President added moments later, "is that if the American people were sufficiently educated to the crisis - the shortrange problem and the long-range difficulty — the impact on Congress would

U.S. production up

Reserve Board reported Friday that the output from factories, mines and utilities advanced for the second consecutive month in July, providing evidence the economic recovery is continuing.

The board's industrial production index had declined for eight consecutive months before increasing in June. The July increase matched the June rise of one-half of 1 per cent.

Industrial production is a big indicator of the economy's health and the abil-ity of industry to absorb unemployed and new workers

Nearly a third of the nation's workers are employed in the establishments covered by the industrial production survey, and millions of merchants and other people depend on the industrial employes paychecks.

The Fed reported that the July advance - like the June turnaround - was centered in industries producing consum-er goods and nondurable materials such as textiles and clothing.

Production of construction materials was little changed.

Among industries showing higher output, auto production rose 5 per cent and appliances, furniture and other consumer goods rose by a lesser amount. Overall production of consumer goods was up 4 per cent from the low point touched in March.

Bronfman reportedly talking to kidnapers

NEW YORK - Multimillionaire Edgar Bronfman reportedly was in contact with the kidnapers of his son, Samuel, Friday, but there was no indication of when the 21year-old heir would be returned to his family.

As police and FB1
agents combed northern estehester around Bedford and Pound Ridge, in a widespread but fruitless search for young Bronfman, his father waited by a special phone in a palatial Manhattan penthouse that has become the kidnap case command post.

His friend and public relations adviser, Jonathan Rinehart, told the Knight News Service that he could not comment on whether Bronfman had received a call from the kidnapers Friday.

The report of a new contact with the kidnapers, coming after the family's public appeal for information, increased speculation that Sam is still alive. There were also indications that all or part of the $4.5 million ransom might have been paid, but that the kidnapers had failed to release Sam.

$285 million U.S. aid overpayment

Combined News Services

WASHINGTON - A Social Security Administration official admitted Friday that the agency's new welfare program for the aged, blind and disabled has made some $235 million in overpayments, some of which will not be recovered. Robert Bynum, Social Security's as-sociate administrator for program development, said the new Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program had been the victim of computer errors but that caseworkers were working to recover money erroneously paid to clients. "In a large program involving millions of people and particularly with new programs...there are major systems problems." Bynum said in explaining the overpayments. The Washington Star, in a copyright story, reported Friday that the SSI program, because of computer errors, had poured out more than $403.7 million dollars in overpayments and quoted unnamed sources as predicting the total loss could go as fitgh as $1 billion. The Star said the situation was further complicated because many state welfare programs have been tied in with the SSI computer system since the program began Jan. 1, 1974.

Bangladesh recognition

WASHINGTON — The U.S. is prepared to recognize the new Bangladesh government which came into power in a military coup carly Friday, a State Department spokesman said. "We have not yet been approached by any officials of the new government, but when we are approached I don't think there is any doubt we will do business with them," said Robert Funseth. The U.S. embassy reported the situation in Bangladesh calm at the moment, and said all 820 Americans in there are safe and none have suffered any injury. Twenty-five of the Americans are U.S. officials and 75 are members of their families, he sald. The remaining are private citizens including businessmen, journalists and others.

New N.Y. fund plan

NEW YORK - The Municipal Assistance Corp. completed Friday a modest public bond sale that assured the city of meeting its cash needs this month and began laying plans to convene a meeting of top-level bankers from across the country within the next two weeks. Purpose of the gathering, which has not gone beyond the early planning stages, is for major financial figures here to persuade out-of-town banking institutions to invest in the September Issue of MAC bonds. The plan emerged because of the difficulties encountered by MAC in the last 48 hours in finding investors for $275 million in-bonds, the centerpiece to an elaborate $960 million package of financing that will carry the city until the light week of September.

Bombings injure scores

HELFAST - Scores of Catholics and Protestants were wounded Friday by two bombs that shattered a figuor store and demolished a tavern, police said. And in a related incident, gunmen kidnaped and shot to death a 26 year-old Protestant captured in the Roman Catholic Falls Road area. Police said 35 persons were wounded and 19 hospitalized after a bomb hidden in a exploded outside the liquor store at the corner of Falls Road and Dunlewey Street, a Roman Catholic area. Shipers fired on an army patrol that arrived after the blast and fired on an ambulance taking a wounded soldier to the hospital. A few hours later, some youths threw a home-made bomb into the Protestant-owned Travellers Rest bar in the west Belfast suburb of Drawning and the soldier to the hospital. Dimmury, injuring nine. Where there's smoke

Is there a law in Long Beach similar to the one in Los Angeles that bans smoking in elevators? If so, how can we get "no smoking" signs in the small elevators in the Long Beach court-house? J.S.S., Long Beach.

A LITTLE LEARY STOP FEEDIN' STRAWBERRIES TO CONVICTS YUAM DOT BREAKIN' OUT

There are no laws banning smoking in Long Beach, said Robert Austin, There is only a rule adopted by a resolution of the city council banning smoking in council chambers. The law you referred to applies only within the City of Los Angeles. There is, however, hope for the nonsmoker seeking protection from ambient tobacco smoke. Legislation - dubbed "the nonsmakers bill of rights - to restrict eigerette smoking in public and private buildings has passed the Assembly. The two-bill package (AB 2291 and AB 471) by Assembly-man John V. Briggs, R-Fullerton, is in the Senate Health and Welfare Committee. A hearing is set for Aug. 20. A spokesman for Briggs told Action Line "we are hopeful it will pass the Senate. It has bogged down there before but it came out of the Assembly with a good vote." Several Southland cities have enacted smoking bans. Orange County has banned smoking in public elevators, meeting places, hallways, washrooms and in all theaters in the county except theater lobbies. Santa Barbara's ban includes supermarkets and hospitals, and San Diego's law includes public restrooms, supermarkets, theaters and museums.

The Tyler Clinic, 921 Westwood Blvd., Los Angeles, freezes, stores and provides sperm for artificial insemi-nation. In increasing numbers, men contemplating yasectomies are having their sperm frozen in case they later change their minds and decide to have children. Research has shown so far that human sperm can successfully be frozen for at least three years. Animal semen has been frozen for as long as 20 years and used successfully. Steve Broder, lab technician for the clinic, said there are "no guarantees" how long a man's sperm will last. "Each sperm is different. Some lasts only six months; some lasts 10 or more years." He said the Tyler Clinic, which has been in operation for 25 years, has "the normal safequards" to prevent the recent apparent equipment failure that accidentally destroyed sperm deposits at a San Francisco firm. The charge for freezing sperm is $25 for each specimen — three to five specimens are recommended — and $40 annually to cover the expense of storing the vials. Broder is mailing you a brochure on the sperm bank. You can phone him - and $10 annually to at 272-1905 for further information.

Postal service

· 1 read somewhere about a consumer protection program organized by the U.S. Postal Service. But when I asked about it at my local post office the clerk there had never heard of it. The program is supposed to help people with mail order problems. Can Action Line find out about this? E.T., Long Beach.

The program, which is designed to facilitate filing mail-order complaints with your local postmaster, has been operating on an experimental basis only in Illinois, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Arizona. It will be put into effect nationally sometime this fall, a Postal Service official in Washington, D.C. told Action Line. If you do not receive satisfaction in a mail-order transaction, you will be able to obtain a consumer service card at any post office. You fill out the postage-free, two-part any drop it in the mail box. One part will go to the local post master and the other part to the Postal Service Consumer Affairs Advocate in Washington, D.C. The postmaster will act on the complaint first. If he cannot get satisfaction from the company, he will turn it over to the consumer affairs advocate, whose staff will

I wish to take issue with a statement made in Action Line by Herb Steinberg, a spokesman for the Universal Studios tour. He said the longest wait for the tours was one hour and 20 minutes. On July 9, I took some out-of-state visitors to Universal Studios and as we got to the parking lot entrance, the attendant told us there would be a wait of at least two hours to get inside. And, believe me, it was exactly two hours to get inside. And, believe me, it was exactly two hours from the time we got in line until we reached the tram entrance. On lop of that, I had to stand in line 15 minutes just to buy the tickets. And this was all out in the hot sun with no shade at all. Apparently Steinberg has never gone out and waited in the line. He should make like a tourist some day and find out. M.J., Garden Grove.

WASHINGTON (UPD — The makers of Yamaha moiorcycles have agreed to stop claiming the bikes are as safe as cars, and to warn people in the company's "Learn to Ride" program that they run "a substantially higher likelihood of accidental death or serious injury," the government announced

The case grew out of a 1973 advertising campalgn in which the Yamaha International Corp. of Buena Park, Calif., told would-be bikers that with proper instruction motorcycles could be operated as safely as cars.

But the Federal Trade Commission said "reliable statistics show that the incidents of death and serious injury from accidents is significantly greater among motorcycle drivers than among drivers of

The agency announced that Yamaha, and its advertising agency, Botsford Ketchum Inc. of San Francisco, had signed a negotiated settlement in the case in which they agreed to make no more claims that any motorized vehicle other than a car can be operated as safely as a car, unless they have scientific tests to prove otherwise.

The FTC said it is also requiring the company to send letters to 140,000 persons who took Yamaha up on its advertising pitch in 1973 and joined the "learn to ride" seminars which the company ran.

The letter will say the company feels "it is important to correct" an "erroneous and potentially hazardous belief.

"Although the motorcycle's maneuverabilty helps in avoiding accidents, and training can certifly help make you a safe rider, all presently available statistics show a substantially higher likelihood of accidental death or serious injury for the motorcy-clists than for the automobile driver."

war organizations. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover ended the program in April, 1971, after some of its activities were exposed by the news media. In letters dated Sept. 2, 1965, to Atty. Gen. Nicholas deB. Katzenbach and to Marvin Watson, special assistant to President Lyndon B. Johnson, Hoover credited FBI infiltration of the Klan with helping to solve the murders of civil rights activists and reducing violence in the South. In the letters, Hoover disclosed that the head of the Klan in one Southern state was "our informant, we have had him warn every member of his organization that he will not tolerate violence in any form.

'As a result we have been successful to date in strong signal to the FBI to sholding Klan violence in speed up the processing of the entire state to an absolute minimum," he said. Of the 14 different Klan groups then in existence, Hoover said, "We have them through informants and currently are operat-ing informations in toplevel positions of leadership in seven of them."

Some of the tactics used by Cointel included:

- Anonymous mailings to Jewish members of the American Communist Party detailing anti-Semetic Soviet policies.

- Creation of a fictitious supersecret National Intelligence Committee of the Klan which issued false news stories to the media reporting that the Klan's national leaders had been "ousted."

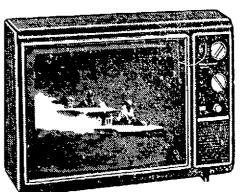

- Getting local authorities to condemn a building in Chicago which had been refurbished by the American Nazi Party for its headquarters.

- Anonymous mailings to Klan members at their home or place of business of postcards with cartoon showing white-sheeted member over the caption "We know who you are."

The 9th U.S. Court of Company of Cham Appeals ruled Friday that the Clean Air Act of 1970 does not authorize the inposition of sanctions on the state for failure to comply with federal regu-lations directing the state to control pollution-creat-ing activities of its residences or businesses. The case arises from numerous petitions for a review of certain regulations issued by the administrators of the Environmental Protection Agency.

Petitions were filed by

Gov Brown trustees of California state universities and colleges, the California Air Resources Board, numerous California cities and counties and private businesses.

"Ger interpretation does not deprive the administrator of power to regulate air pollution in the manner provided by the act," said the court. "We merely hold that under the act, a state may decline without being liable to sanctions, to undertake a program of control suggested by the administrator.

Hahn said his attack is Supervisor Kenneth Ilalin said Friday that the aimed at cleaning up pollution, "not closing the Kaiser Steel plant in Fontana was cited 219 times for smog violations between June 1973 and June

Kaiser plant, said records show that 100 of the eases against Kaiser were dismissed by plea bargaining while 119 resulted in fines after no contest pleas. He said fines in each case averaged about $150.

Hahn noted that Los Angeles County in the past had no jurisdiction over the Kaiser plant because it was located in San Bernardino County.

However, Los Angeles joined San Bernardino, Orange and Riverside Counties in forming a volunteer regional board July 1. Hahn is one of Los Angeles County's representatives on the regional board.

"The Kaiser plant has been getting away with polluting the atmosphere and endangering the public's health for years," Hahn said. "If Kaiser had been located in Los Angeles County it would have had to comply with the county's strict regulations by now."

the court. The court said it had made the same decision in reference to Alaska, which had filed a similar court

Under the act, California was required to submit for approval a state plan providing for implementation, maintenance and en-forcement of national ambient air quality standards. The state submitted its plan on Feb. 1, 1972, and it was partly approved but after revisions and some related litigation the administrator disapproved the state's plan because it didn't provide for reaching and maintaining national standards for photochemical oxidants.

He then put out a transportation control plan and other regulations covering ity control regions.

Among other things the plan contemplated: reduc-tion of gasoline sold within the Los Angeles, San Francisco, Sacramento Valley, San Joaquin Valley and San Diego regions; operation by the state of an inspection and maintenance program designed to reduce auto emissions; restrictions on the use of motorcycles; a state program for catalyst retrofit units for cars, and imposition of surcharges

California was directed to undertake these lasks, report compliance and submit certain reports to on parking spaces.

At least 208 parties petitioned the court of appeals for a review. Some were dismissed and when parking supply regulations were suspended and parking surcharge regulations withdrawn, more petitions were dismissed. But the EPA insisted were valid and directed

The ashes had been collected as evidence and put into jars that were placed in the store for safekeeping. Nance bought the store last year and found the jars in the attic last March.

"We are going to make this funeral the biggest thing that's happened Cazadero since, since, well since the Kendalls were murdered," said Gary L. Rodgers, one of the organizers of the funeral.

Nance and a friend, Wayne Dunham, obtained a burial permit. But Sono-ma County officials later

'Forcing Calif. to encourage people' Brown raps U.S. welfare plans

SACRAMENTO (UPI) -Gov. Brown charged Friday that the Ford administration is forcing California to encourage more people to join welprograms without providing the money to finance them.

"So, here we are in a position of the State of California basically being run by those bureaucracies in Washington," he declared. "They force us into programs that we don't want to get into. If we don't, they threaten to cut off the money.

The governor told a news conference he com-plained to newly appointed Health, Education and Welfare Secretary F. David Mathews and would discuss the issue with President Ford next month in Sacramento, "if the President cares to lis-

But Brown gave assurances that the state should be able to "generate suffi-cient funds" to qualify for federal matching funds this year.

"If in the following year we are a little bit short of state matching funds, there are other pockets of money that we can dip into There is the aban-doned vehicle fund. There

Brown to veto gasoline-tax bill

Gov. Brown said Friday he could see no circumstances in which he would sign legislation increasing the state gasoline tax by two cents a gallon. The bill, meantime, cleared its second Assembly committee test.

"I'm very reluctant to see any new taxes," the governor told a news con-ference. "And, I'm doing everything I can to pre-vent that."

The Senate-passed bill by Senate President Pro Tem James R. Mills, D-San Diego, would use the extra gas taxes to finance rapid transit and highway construction. It was ap-proved by the Revenue and Taxation Committee on a 7-6 vote and now goes to the Ways and Means Constaittee.

David Brainin, spokesman for the State Department of Finance, called the bill a "billion dollar tax increase" and testified it would not save 3,300 state highway jobs which the administration plans to eliminate because of waning highway tax reve-

The measure would increase the gasoline tax from seven to nine cents per gallon effective July 1. The tax increase would last five years, and at $200 million a year would cost taxpayers $1 billion.

Asked if there were any circumstances in which he could sign the bill, Brown replied: "I don't know of any. I did say I would avoid a general tax increase this year."

There had been some question whether Brown considered an increase in the gasoline-user tax to be general tax increase, but the governor said: "It looks pretty general to

However, he added that he was not "too excited about getting the state in the middle of a zoning ordinance. It should be the cities; they know best. The state would be too far afield.

I'm encouraged that local government can be engaged in this, because that's where it belongs,' Roberti said.

State job unionism bill gains

SACRAMENTO (UPI) = A Senate Committee approved a last-minute proposal Friday granting industrial style collective bargaining rights to 200,-000 state employes, but not to thousands of other local government workers.

Eleventh-hour negotiations led by Gov. Brown on a broader bill that would include nearly all county and municipal workers deadlocked Thursday night, effectively ending chances for passage this year of the "comprehensive" measure the governor sought.

The Governmental Organization Committee, on the last day it could act upon collective bargaining legislation this year under Senate and Assembly rules, approved the state employe-only proposal on BROWN'S adviser on collective bargaining, Ray Fisher, told a reporter that despite hopes for a comprehensive bill, the governor would be receptive to the bill as long as it was linked to a separate measure giving school teachers similar collective bargaining rights.

we find they are forcing us to do things that we don't have the tax base to do and for which they are un-willing to pay," Brown declared.

At his third formal meeting with reporters in the theater-like Capitol news conference room, the Democratic chief executive also discussed:

TAXES — He said he now could think of no circumstances under which he would sign a bill increasing the gasoline tax from seven to nine cents a gallon. "I'm very reluctant to see any new taxes and I'm doing everthing I can to prevent that," he SCHOOLS - He suggested California could come close to complying with the requirements of the Serrano education finance decision if over the next six to eight years the state pumped equalization aid into poor school dis-tricts and at the same time limited the spending of wealthier districts.

PRESIDENT - Insisted again he was not a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination next year, but said to "offer a Sherman-like statement is a little silly." Republican William T. Sherman said in 1885 that if he was nominated, he wouldn't accept and if elected, wouldn't serve.

Brown held up a newspaper advertisement the state was required by the federal government to publish which spelled out under recently implemented lederal legislation social services available under welfare.

HEW said the advertisement was technically flawed and ordered the state to run a corrected version at a cost of about $65,000. At the risk of losing $245 million in federal aid, the Brown administration refused to do so. Brown insisted that because the advertisement failed to "meet the fancy of some bureaucrat in Washington," California was directed to readvertise welfare program benefits such as child and health care, family planning and services to the mentally retarded.

He said the second advertisement was requirprogram does is raise false expectations, provide no new money and insures that the promise it holds out will never be fulfilled because the money simply isn't there. In addition, the governor said, the new federal program dramatically increased welfare eligibility.

He said he told Mathews in a telephone conversation it was "ironic that a supposedly conservative (Ford) administration is forcing a liberal adminis-tration in California toreadvertise for more benefits so more people will get on welfare and take advantage of programs that are not even funded at present levels."

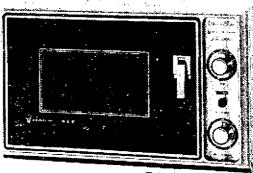

Brown said Mathews told him he would "look into" the situation.

Surveying 200 of its readers, the magazine found 62.1 per cent of them rated Mr. Ford's overall performance as 'good," and another 10.3 per cent called it "excel-lent." Slightly more than 25 per cent of the respondents considered his gener-al performance "fair," while only 2.5 per cent judged it "poor."

When Mr. Ford stepped into the Presidency a year ago, many people doubted his capability for the job. His performance since then has erased many question marks, Industry Week said.

President Ford scored well, but not quite as im-pressively, on his efforts to bolster the economy. In per tent, but 32.2 per tent said his economic per-formance was only "fair." Another 8.4 per cent scored it "poor."

AS FOR the President's an overwhelming 81.8 per cent of the respondents called it "moderately pro-business."

Some of Mr. Ford's proposals have struck responsive chords among managers of the nation's industrial plants. They particularly support his call for a review of regulatory bodies and look favorably on his recognition of the need to restruc-ture the bureaucratic maze that confronts indus-

Respondents in the survey voted overwheming (87.2 percent) approval of Mr. Ford's use of the veto on legislation passed by Congress. Concern for the private enterprise system was strong among the respondents in the Industry Week

ON ONLY ONE question in the survey did opposition to Mr. Ford equal support of him. This was his proposal to raise petroleum import taxes as a means of driving down de-mand for oil and gasoline.

Oil industry fighting back

ANCHORAGE, Alaska - Oil can be safely produced in Alaska's Outer Continental Shelf with the advanced techniques now operating in the North Sea and used during 25 years of marine drilling in offshore U.S. waters, a top industry spokesman said.

John H. Silcox of San Francisco told an interior department hearing that environmental conditions in the North Sea are slightly more severe than in the Gulf of Alaska.

"Yet the oil industry has constructed offshore platforms, drilled and placed sub-sea pipelines into operation. Today the North Sea is producing oil and gas with no significant detrimental impact on the marine environment.

BY VIGOROUSLY developing the North Sea, he said Great Britain and Norway expect to become self-sufficient in oil and gas by the early 1980's, although both nations have been almost totally dependent on middle east oil imports.

Silcox, exploration vice president of Standard Oil Co. of California, Western Operations, Inc., represented the Gulf of Alaska Operators Committee at the Bureau of Land Management's hearing on the draft environmental impact statement on OCS operations.

The hearings were held in connection with the scheduled sale of federal OCS oil and gas leases in the northern Gulf of Alaska.

Other industry witnesses outlined the extensive steps the petroleum industry is taking to avoid any adverse environmental impact from offshore oil and gas production:

Silcox presented a detailed critique of the pre liminary environmental report, prepared by the Council on Environmental Quality. He said opponents of offshore development have cited the CEQ report as an authoritative source, although it is "neither com-

HE CHARGED that the report ignored 25 years of successful offshore oil operations by the U.S. oil industry, did not scientifically document many of its findings, treated complex technical subjects in a superficial manner, and failed to distinguish "be-tween real threats to the environment and subjective judgments that (would) simply prohibit any proposed development.

The petroleum industry has spent more than $2 million on numerous scientific studies of the Gull of Ataska." Silcox said. "These studies represent the most comprehensive environmental assessment of oil and gas operations ever conducted in any now producing area in the world.

"This mass of material and expert comment was virtually ignored in the final report.

"By way of contrast, the environmental com-munity offered rhetoric rather than scientific fact. And yet their philosophy permeates the entire fabric of the CEQ report."

If the industry's factual data had been properly reflected, Silcox said, it would have clearly demonstrated the report's lack of scientific documentation.

SILCOX SAID the industry realizes that the CEQ lacked sufficient time and technical staff to produce a definitive environmental assessment of the OCS areas. If it had, he said, the council would have found that many of the concerns it expressed were grossly Silcox emphasized that the U.S. must develop all its potential OCS oil and gas to achieve greater energy self-sufficiency.

Bankruptcy lurks but...

Small, medium businesses closing eyes to warnings

NEW YORK (AP) — Many small- and medium-size business men prefer to slide down the chute to bankruptcy with their eyes closed and their arms folded rather than recognize the warning signals.

That is the observation of some accountants and others who are called in during the terminal days of once healthy concerns. Companies that could be saved, they say, are sabotaged by their owners' inability to face facts.
"You'd be surprised how many either will turn their backs on realities or minimize the warning, signals when they occur," said an executive of Coopers & Lybrand, the big accounting firm.

MAINTAINING that "there has never been such a period of uncertainty in predicting the future," like firm is preparing to publish for its clients an advisory booklet on sound planning and cash control tech-

One tip: Read those sales reports carefully. Salesmen often fear to report dropping orders lest it reflects on their performance, the accountants say. A change in the order "mix" also can foretell dangers

"A shift in sales mix toward less profitable products is a development that frequently occurs hand in hand with a decrease in sales volume," the booklet will say, making the onset of trouble doubly deadly and swift.

Some other signals of trouble:

—Your customers, who themselves might be pressed, request delays in shipment of orders already placed, thus preventing you from converting products into cash. And the goods might have to be stored at your expense.

-Your customers reject discounts for early payment and ask for longer periods in which to settle. This increases the financing cost to you and adds to the risk of not being able to collect at all, at least in —The quality of your company's work is slipping. Idle time is increasing. Hirelings act contrary to management's plans, especially in the costly areas of hiring and purchasing.

IN FIGHTING BACK, the accounting firm says, the businessman must focus on mobilizing cash, using this cash controls, improving revenue and using his credit more wisely.

Unproductive assets should be put to work.
Funds should be used more intensively. "You should consider using bank wires or telephone transfer checks which can move funds overnight from branch office to head office," they advise.

"Excess funds can be invested temporarily in short-term money market vehicles to earn interest," the booklet will say, advising businessmen that "a broker or banker can quickly identify and obtain secure investments for you over a weekend or even

An attack might be launched on accounts receivable, particularly where payments are withheld be-cause of customer complaints. Collections agencies might have to be brought in or, if customers themselves are caught in a cash squeeze, a reduced schedule of payments might be negotiated.

New media facility to serve Pacific Region

A fund drive for a $1 million media facility—designed to accommodate everything from Presidential press conferences to student workshops—was launched this week as the Greater Los Angeles Press Club officially began its campaign to build a new home, the West Coast Communications Center. The 18,000 square foot Center, to be build on the Press Club's acre-large exiting site at 600 N. Vermont Ave., will feature what has been described as the most technially superior press conference facilities in the country. A helicopter landing pad has also been included in the design to accommodate newsmakers.

The structure will also include a laboratory for students majoring in the print, radio and television fields and will expand an existing informal program of press conference critiques, in cooperation with Southern California college Journalism/communica-A MEDIA LIBRARY, meeting and conference rooms will augment the study progam. The two-story building also will include a dining room able to handle 300 diners, a bar, administrative offices and commercial space.

At a press conference—the second in the history of the club— LAPC President Haig Keropian announced that Comedian Bob Hope had accepted chairmanship of the drive which initially will be for $250,000— enough to begin construction. The club already has accumulated $50,000 towards the building

Since the almost 1,000-member club occupied the present headquarters—formerly the Drunkard Theater— it has become a major point of origin of news, Keropian said. The first of its kind in the word, Keropian, associate editor of the Valley News, said the Center will serve as a unique community resource and provide a central communications core for the entire Pacific Region.

'CLUB MEMBERS have initiated this specialized project because of their conviction that such a unique facility is needed to meet the changing needs and patterns of today's mass media," Keropian said. 'It will provide a communications channel for all segments of the community and will be an educational resource for Journalism students."

Construction is expected to begin this fall, the newsman said, with completion expected by mid-1976.

"Alcoholism can strike a board chairman as easily as a blue collar worker," they said. eldom do you hear the lisease discussed in this ontext, but a realization of its enormous costs is making business take a new look at the problem.

A federal study found hat alcohol misuse costs the nation $23.5 billion a year, and that the largest egment of that overall igure, some $9.35 billion, s in the form of lost roduction.

Absenteeism, wasted ime on the job, inefficien-y, faulty decision makng, accidents, and reha-bilitation costs are the chief ingredients of that 9.35 billion, a sum that nevitably finds its way into the prices of goods.

Dr. Nicholas Pace, corporate medical director of General Motors Corp., told a meeting on alcoholism between the control of goods. ism here last month that study of its Pontiac operations showed alcohols averaged no less than 33 days absent a year.

THAT'S ONLY one indiator. The sickness and accident claims, he said, amounted to more than four times those of the "normal" employe. The alcoholic received repeatd disciplinary layoffs for lrinking on the job.

Even grimmer statistics ome from the Labor-Management Committee of the National Council on Alcoholism, which puts the cost to American industry at $12.5 billion a year.

There are nine million alcoholics in this counry," it said in a statement signed by George Meany, AFL-CIO president, and James Roche, GM director and former chairman

THE GM program, under which 600,000 workers are covered for up to 45 days of treatment, has involved 8,000 heavy drinkers in the past two years with, said Pace, a recovery rate of 80 per

Other results are equally gratifying:

-An 85 per cent reduction in lost manhours among those treated.

-A 70 per cent reduc-tion in the sickness and accident benefits paid to them.

-A 47 per cent reduction in their sick leaves.

Isn't the recovered alcoholic a marked person, a worker to be watched closely and even with suspicion, a worker not to be trusted with greater re-sponsibilities? "Not if you have a program of educa-tion at the top," said

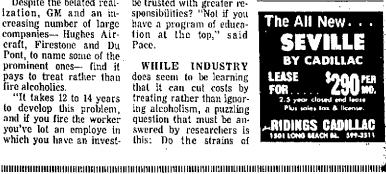

WHILE INDUSTRY does seem to be learning that it can cut costs by treating rather than ignoring alcoholism, a puzzling question that must be answered by researchers is this: Do the strains of industrial society contrib-ute to the problem?

Definitive answers seem to escape the scholars, but a legal definition conceivably could emerge from a suit brought by a former Ford Motor Co. executive who contends he became an alcoholic because of Job demands.

The executive, John Brenna, filed a $1.3 million suit for compensation he said he would have received if he hadn't been forced into premature retire-ment. His drinking was job-related, he said.

Regardless of the outcome of that suit, it will probably focus attention on the problem and maybe contribute to the growing belief that it pays to treat the alcoholic, if only to protect the company's investment, if only to keep costs down.

The flames were finally ringed by 23 miles of fire lines Thursday night, and Friday the main task was smothering remaining hot spots. About 200 men were patroling the lines, chop-ping down trees that harbored flames in their branches. The plaintiffs contended that political contributions and expenditures are so interconnected with guarantees of freedom of speech that any restriction would be unconstitutional.

"We disagree," the court said in its 77-page opinion.

The eight judges were unanimous on the major provisions and issued the ruling in the name of the court, noting it "reflects the participation of various judges so no single judge could fairly be designated as the author.

Ford, who had been say-

To help reduce dependence on imports and stem the outflow of American dollars and Jobs, I will veto the six-month extension," when Congress sends it to him toward the end of August, Ford said.

He added, as expected, that if Congress sustained the veto — "as it must" — he would cushion the economic impact of the sudden end of price controls by lifting the $2 fee on imported oil.

The administration has estimated that the cost of fuels would rise 5 to 7 cents per gallon over nine months as a consequence of the end of price controls on "old oil, that from wells in operation before 1973. The President twice proposed and the House of representatives twice rejected plans to gradually climinate the controls on old oil, which makes up 60 per cent of the domestic supply. Old oil is priced under the controls, at $5.25 a harrel. The market price of imported oil and domestic oil from wells drilled after 1972 is currently $12

Congress, having failed to produce its own comprehensive prehensive energy program before recessing for a month on Aug. 1, approved a six-month extension of the price con-trols on old oil. Both the and the House adopted the measure by more than the two-third majorities needed to override a presidential veto.

White House officials here with Ford said, however, that they believed there was a good chance of sustaining the veto by a narrow margin in the Sen-ate, which is expected to vote on the issue in early September.

WHOA! Expos chase Sutton HARNESS IS NO GO

Western Harness Rac ing announced Friday that its 15-week meeting scheduled to start at Hollywood Park on Aug. 21 has been postponed indefinitely be-rause of a dispute with

A spokesman for the WHR said its latest offer of a contract for purses and number of racing days was rejected by the Western Standardbred Association, the group which represents the horsemen. WHR's contract propos-al called for five additional-racing nights and a reduction by $100,000 of the 1976 stakes schedule. Horsemen had demanded an increase in the racing schedule from five nights per week to six and a 50 per cent reduction in the stakes schedule, with that money to be distributed to lesser-clasification

In a telegram to WHR, horsemen who had announced they would boycott the regularly sched-uled 77-night meeting indicated they would be willing to discontinue the boycott if WHR would agree to race 10 Monday night programs in 1975 negotiate a re luced 1978 stakes schedule.

WHR President Marvin J. Shapiro said, "We have compromised at a level beyond that recommended by the California Horse Racing Board and, in view of this decision by the horsemen, our entire 1975 season has been postponed indefinitely. At this point, the entire meeting is now in jeopardy."

Davis quits Cards to save money

ATLANTA (UPI)-Willie Davis has left the St. Louis Cardinals to keep his former wife from garnishing his salary, the 35-year-old outfielder said Friday night.

Davis said he would make about $30,000 between now and the end of the National League season, and he understood his wife could take all of it in alimony Dayments

The way the laws are set up, she could garnish my salary. And so that's what she was doing." Davis said. "If she's gonna get all my money, let her play. That's how I feel about it."

The Cards announced Priday night that Davis was leaving the club and being placed on the disqualified list because of money problems. They said the problems are "in no way connected with a disagreement of any kind between Davis and the

Davis confirmed the statment, saying, "There was no disagreement between the club and myself, but there was a disagreement between my ex-wife and myself."

"We've gotta get this thing straightened out. I'm not gonna let lawyers determine my future. As of now, I don't know when I'll be able to go back. The only way is if my ex-wife and 1 sit down and agree there will be no more pressures put on me. Davis, who is making a reported $110,000 per year, then added: "I'm going back home and look into starting a new career."

He said he was not afraid of giving up baseball because I know I'll be able to make a living for me.

Cardinals' president August A. Busch Jr. said "Willie understands completely our need to place him on the disqualified list and has said that under the circumstances he does not disagree with our action. General manager Bing Devine is in complete accord with this action."

Placement on the disqualified list means Davis does not receive his salary and the club can replace him on the roster.

Davis apparently left the club Friday. He played in Thursday night's game against the Atlanta Braves.

Sea Festival closes Skiers aim for world marks

Men and women speed skiers hope to set world records on both the single ski and barefoot Sunday afternoon when the International Speed Ski Jamboree is staged at Marine Stadium. It is the final event of the Long Beach Sea Festival. Long Beach water skiers, long recognized as among the fastest in the world, will be joined by several skiers from Australia, South Africa, Germany and Italy.

The men's and women's speed records are both held by U.S. skiers. Gordon Epling, a barefoot skier, also holds a world record of 93.66 mph. He and his No. 1 challenger, Craig Vestermark, are residents of Long Beach. Vestermark is a Long Beach Fire Department

The men's speed record on the single ski is now wheld by Danny Churchill, who retired after being injured in an attempt to break his own mark of 126.40 mph.

THE WOMEN'S record was established several years ago at Marine Stadium by Sally Younger, who later left Southern California and now lives in the South. Her record is 105.15 mph.

Donna Patterson and Jane Welsh will try to exceed that mark Sunday. Both have gone more than 90 mph.

Interspersed with the speed trials will be circle

Also on the program are six Bunnies from a Playboy Club, who will be skiling in their own style of swimsuits, but not for speed. The National Drag Boat Association will help the Speed Ski Association by providing announc as and timers for the various events.

Channel 2-way record broken

DOVER, England (UPI) Jon Erikson of Chicago completed a two-way swim of the English Channel in 30 hours Friday, breaking by three minutes the 10-year-old record held by his father.

The 20-year-old physical education student overcame jelly fish bites, bad tides, log and even ocean liners to complete the England-France-England distance of 42 miles.

One of the first things he did on getting out of the chilly water was to tele-phone his father, Ted, to break the news.

"I was confident," he said, "I thought I would do about 24 to 27 hours, and when we went over from England to France, we were pretty much on schedule, just under 12 hours.

"But on the way back, we got caught against tides and current which slowed us up a lot. The return took us 17 hours, 50 minutes.'

Erikson said he never considered giving up, despite the hazards. "I got stung a couple of

"But stung a compre or times, once on the nose and once on the arm, by some Jelly fish," he said. "But that happens. I was surprised I got stung on the nose but I corally did the nose, but I really did not feel like giving up.
"There were some bad times in the swim! It was raining and there was a lot of fog. We had to go in circles so we didn't hit the big steamers." Rosemary George, a two-way channel swimmer herself, was the official observer for Erikson's swim. She told of one near collision with a ship.

"We did not have radar and we could not hear it approaching through the fog and darkness by the sound of its fog horn." she said. "We couldn't get out of the way, and when it was almost on us, we had to circle around to avoid it. It was very close."

Only two other men besides the Eriksons, an Argentinian and an Englishman, have succeeded in two-way channel swims.

$600,000 and could bypass that mark with a first, second or third place effort. She's Precious has won 12 of the 19 races and is bidding, with Elan

Elan Again has only one victory in this summer meeting, but it came in the $50,000 Go Man Go Handicap, Last winter she . won races worth $28,000 and $50,000:

Also in the field of 10 is Flight 109, the third win-ningest stakes horse in Los Alamitos history with 14 triumphs. The only horses who have won more races at this Orange County racing facility are the famed Kaweah Bar and Charger Bar.

Wanta Go, second in two major stakes races this year, drew the rail position.

She's Precious has captured the $100,000 Vessels Maturity and the $25,000 Miss Princess. Her only defeats have come in a divison of the Vessels Maturity and the Go Man Go Handicap when she ran third to Elan Again and Wanta Go.

Timeto Thinkrich has won only the $10,000 Chicado V. and a divison of the Maturity trials.

The remander of the field includes Al's Alibi Deck 'Em, Five Chie, Native Empress and Pass Over.

to win the $10,000 Sophomore Stakes before more than 11,000 race lans. In one of the closest finishes of the meeting, four noses and a neck separated the first six horses in the seven-horse field.

It was Alachic's nose that hit the finish wire first although the Alamitos Bar coll lagged early in the 400-yard dash.

Jackey Ronnie Banks managed to hold off Deer Suc and Breezing Man by a pair of noses. Alachic, winning his fourth race of the meeting, was clocked in 20.18 and paid $5.40, $3.40 and $2.80.

Derby champ

will pass up Travers today

Associated Press

The Travers attracted six 3-year-olds Friday but not the glamor colt. Foolish Pleasure, who will remain in his barn.
"I just don't think he's up to 14 miles right now, said trainer Leroy Jolley after failing to enter the Kentucky Derby winner in today's 106th running of the $100,000-added Travers at Saratoga.

"1 certainly wouldn't want to start him unless I Jolley told a New York Racing Association Sue and five others Friday spokesman. "I don't think to win the $10,000 Sophowould be fair to enter him and then scratch tomorrow. There might be a number of people who come to see him run and then be disappointed when he was scratched." Those set to go to post, each under 126 pounds, are Saron Stable's Forceten, jockey Don Pierce; John Galbreath's Prince Thou Art, Marco Castane-da; East-West Stable's Wajima, Braulio Baeza; Harry T. Mangurian Jr.'s Valid Appeal, apprentice James Long; Sigmund Sommer's Ramahorn, Eddie Hole, and Max Gluck's Media, Jean Cruguet.

Forceten, winner of the Argonaut and Swaps stakes in California this year and the Jim Dandy here Aug. 6, was made the early lavorite at 8-5.

The New York Times in its Friday editions quoted a source as saying some members of a $4.5 million syndication being put to-gether on Foolish Pleasure had been pressuring owner John L. Greer and Jolley not to run the colt in the Travers for fear a defeat would hurt the value of the syndication.

Elsowhere, owner Dan Lasater will try to win two stakes today, sending out Royal Glint and Hey Rube in the $100,000 added Amory L. Haskell Handicap at Monmouth Park and Hot N Nasty in the $20,000 added Cotillion Stakes for fillies and mares at Keystone. The 1½ mile Haskell will be Royal Glint's first start on the dirt this year following 10 grass races which include victories in United Nations and Kelly-Olympic handicaps...Royal Glint will be co-highweighted at 121 oninds with Timberland Stable's Stonewalk, who won the Massachuselts and Cornhusker handicaps and was second in the United Nations...Buffalo Lark, 124, and Zografos 114, head an Horse field for the $40,000 added Governors Cup Handicap over 1½ miles on the grass at Arilington Park; and Elsewhere, owner Dan Laicap over 14 miles on the grass at Arlington Park; and Solo Royal, 120, will oppose seven other 3-year-old fillies in the $20,000-added Begonia Handicap at Calder...The Stanley Dancer-trained entry of Bonetish and Surefire Hanover have been made the 21 favorites for the $111,000 Empire State troop for 3-year-olds at the New York Fair-grounds mile oval.

Derby field led by Vint and Vigor

RUIDOSO DOWNS. N.M. (UPI) - Vim and Vigor posted the top quali-fying time of 21.87 seconds Friday for next week's $495,500 All American Derby with all-time leading money winner Easy Date also getting into the field which will be going for horse racing's second biggest purse. The derby will be run

Namath to play despite injuries

Joe Namath, the high-priced, gintpy-kneed quarterback, already is experiencing physical problems and the National Football League exhibition season is barely underway. Despite a slight muscle pull in Namath's right side, New York Jets coach Charley Winner plans to use Namath for a least half of tonight's game against the Cardinals in St. Louis, It probably will be the first half. Namath played almost half of the Jets' 20-15 victory over Minnesota last week. Jim Hart is scheduled to start at quarterback for the Cardinals, who beat Kansas City 10-3 last In other games, Atlanta plays Baltimore at Lincoln, Neb.; San Francisco travels to Los Angeles; Chicago meets Green Bay in Milwaukee; Washington is at Houston; Miami hosts Detroit; Philadelphia is at Cleveland; the New York Giants play at San Diego and Denver meets the Saints in the New Orleans Superdome.

Pittsburgh plays Oak-land at Berkeley and Minnesota is at New England Sunday. Dallas plays at Kansas City Monday Fans at Lincoln, used to watching top-notch college players, could get to see a 1975 college star, quarter-back Steve Bartkowski, in his pro debut. The former California player might see some duty for Atlanta against Baltimore. Chicago might also take a look at a rookie quarterback, Bob Avellini from Maryland, against Green Bay.

Washington will be toeking for its first victory and three pre-season meetings with Houston.

Detroit will be looking for its first touchdown of the year when the Lions, beaten 34-0 by Oakland last week, test Miami. The Dolphins without Larry Czonka and Jim Klick, who now run for Memohis in the World Fuotball League, got 78 yards on the ground from Don Not-tingham and 71 from Ben Malone in 7-3 victory over Cincinnati.

Philadelphia will use quarterbacks Roman Gabriel and Mike Boryla against Cleveland. Each passed for a touchdown in a 17-14 triumph over Pittsburgh. Cleveland will split its quarterbacking between Mike Phipps and Brian Sipe. Scott Hunter, who had

People and ideas

A medley of comments

Doesn't every tayman once in awhile feel the impulse to get up in the pulpit and have his say?

The Unitarian Universalist Church, 5450 Atherton St., lets the layman preach whenever there are five Sundays in a month. The fifth Sunday belongs to the congregation.

On that day an individual is free to do whatever he wants to do. He can read his own poetry or dance or display his art or preach. There is only one rule. The event must not take more than five minutes. Such an unstructured happening might not be suitable in a more structured church - but surely there is an idea here for any church. When people can participate beyond singing the hymns and saying "Amen," they are likely to feel more a part of their church.

THE 51st DRAGON

Here is a summary of a fantasy written long ago by the distinguished fournalist, Heywood Broun: A cadet at Knight

School was a coward. He was especially terrified of dragons. Nevertheless he worked hard and made good grades. When it came time for him to earn his knighthood by killing a dragon the professor of dragonology look him aside and said, There is nothing to be afraid of. Just say a magic word and do what we have taught you and no dragon can harm you." And the professor whispered the magic word in his The fledgling knight rode forth, found his dragon, said the magic word and killed the monster with one thrust of his lance. He became the most he roic of dragon hunters. He said the magic word and killed his dragon again and again. When he killed his 50th dragon the Knight School held a banquet in his honor. The old professor of dragonology took him aside again and said, "Now that you are a ma-ture man, I can tell you the truth. The magic word is just nonsense. You kill-ed all 50 dragons with your bravery and your skill with the lance."

This did not make the knight happy. All his old cowardice came back in a flood. When he mounted up the next morning he was trembling so hard that his armor rattled.

The 51st dragon barbecued him and his horse

THE AILING METHODISTS

"United Methodism is a sick denomination. Any objective person will recognize this," said the Rev. Dr. Edmund Robb of Lubbock, Texas, in an address at the annual Good News Convocation in North Carolina. "Our membership has declined one million in seven years. Worship at-tendance has declined by almost the same percentage. . . . At the same time the conservative evangelical denominations are showing very rapid growth. Any business organization that suffered such decline would demand radical reform and change in policy and per-sonnel. Shall we do less?"

What is the cause of this decline? Dr. Robb said: "If we have a sick church it is largely because we have sick seminaries." He should know about his own denomination, but surely the problem is more complex. After all, seminaries are the creatures of the churches that support them. Isn't it likely that decline of the Methodists and some other "mainline" denominations reflects something that is happening in America today?

Why are conservative evangelical denominations

Surely this is part of a growing desire for a way of life which requires structure, discipline and even courage. Secular organizations, especially schools and colleges, re-port similar trends. The "hippie" era is becoming old-fashioned. The shabby attitudes of the 1960s, at once nihilistic and passive and violent, are no longer acceptable to many. More people would like to belong to something dynamic.

This doesn't mean liberalism is passe. But it well may mean that unstructured purposeless liberalism is dying. People go to church to hear something beside guitar music and freak theology.

Today the Catholies - ricats and people — are lighting the Communists, who are conducting their version of Holy War. The tragedy will probably get much worse. Many British and Irish argue that the trouble in North Ireland is not Holy War. They are unrealistle. True, most Protestants and Catholies do not want the war. True, there are political and economic issues. But the basic fact is that the IRA and their Protestant counterparts are gunning each other - and innocent bystanders in a war centuries old. Response to questionnaire

By MARK CLUTTER

The response to the recent True or false quiz on "Church and State" was truly impressive.

More than 150 persons answered. That is a good

- number, especially in the vacation month of August. But more amazing than the number was the intellectuality of the response. Many readers pointed out that many of the questions cannot be answered with a simple True or False. The questions are too complex

Many readers wrote paragraphs to explain their "views. One wrote a highly literary six-page, singlespaced essay to explain his views. Another wrote earnest pages. Too bad we don't have space to publish the best of these answers. They did, however, give the Religion Editor a lot of intellectual pleasure and some fresh ideas.

Except for some questions, it is hard to guess what this quiz tells about the present state of American

More women than men answered - but it is hard to See much difference in their views.

Ages ranged from 13 to 89. Most respondents were older than 40. Here again it is hard to see much difference. Some young people have very rigid views, but some old people are mellow liberals.

... Many Catholics answered. The Roman Catholic Church has an official "party line" — but individual Catholics do not necessarily follow it. There was wide dilbergane in their vicents.

divergence in their views.
One would think that most of the readers of the Religion Pages would be church goers. It was therefore interesting and refreshing to get many answers from persons who called themselves "agnostic," "atheistic," "no church" or vaguely "Protestant."

The Religion Editor takes pride in this quiz because it obviously has caused many people to make up their minds on important social issues and attitudes.

.. Let's see the general results on each question:

1. Since parochial and private schools are required by law to provide education equivalent to that of public schools, they should receive a share of the school tax

The auswers were about evenly divided. Some Catholics answered "False." A few respondents feared the possible consequences of the state "subsidizing religion.

2. There should be unconditional annesty for draft eynders and deserters of the Vietnam War.

... Nearly two thirds said no. Some didn't like the word "unconditional." A bemedaled veteran said, "If I had it jo do over, I wouldn't go."

3. A woman should have the right to make decisions concerning her body; therefore, she should have a right to a legal abortion.

The answers were about 50-50. There was no difference in the attitudes of the sexes. The responses of wemen of child-bearing age were no different. Catholics lended to be against abortion - but not all of them.

4. Obscene literature and X-rated films should be prohibited by law.

Two thirds say yes. Some qualified their views by saying that such material should not be publicly displayed. In vending machines or theatre billboards. Such movies and literature, they argued, should be available to adults. One who opposed said, "If you let censorship get started, where will it stop?"

Only two persons disagreed, and one argued that it should be considered a more serious crime than assault. This is truly social progress. In the past the moral character of the victim had a bearing on the case. A streetwalker simply couldn't be raped, according to law and public opinion. Many states still have such laws. the very changes that will abate it. Fear of change is, no doubt, in all of us, but it most afflicts the man who fears that any change will lead to loss of his wealth and status. When this fear becomes inordinate, he will, if he has political power, abrogate such things as civil rights and the rule of law, using the argument that he abrogates them only to preserve them.

Life has taught me . . . that active loving saves one from a morbid preoccupation with the shortcomings of society and the waywardness of men.

Life has not taught me ... to expect nothing, but she has taught me not to expect success to be the inevitable result of my endeavors.

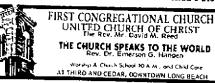

She has taught me to seek sustenance from the endeavor

POSITIVE THINKING
by Norman Vincent Peale

How To Relax

I hailed the taxi at 84th aside by a businessman. and Fifth Avenue and we started downtown. What a trip! The driver was, by all odds, the most uptight taxi man I had encountered even in super-tense New York City.

In the teeming and slow moving Fifth Avenue traf-fic, he furned and fretted. It seemed that all other drivers exasperated him. He vociferously expressed his opinion of them, using quite a lot of theological terms, but certainly not putting them together in a theological manner. This man gave the impression that he, alone, knew how to drive. Maybe he was a good driver but he was obviously not expert in mental control.

More than half favor Sunday closing. Among those who opposed are persons who ask "What day is the Lord's Day?" Jews, Seventh-day Adventists and some As he rushed along I noticed a card about 6 x 7, appended by scotch tape to his instrument panel, where it hung in full view. On it in large letters, were printed these words, "If you can keep your head in the midst of all this confusion — you don't under-stand the situation."

I asked him what the sign meant, and he replied that he didn't know, but that it seemed to say something to him.

Well it could say something to us also for perhaps one of the things wrong with us today is that we are not keeping our heads too well in all this confusion. Naturally if we are tense and nervous in thought and reaction, it follows that we are not going to "understand the situation" all that well.

The human mind cannot think effectively when it is hot. Only the cool mind can operate rationally and factually. It was never in-tended that anyone should think with the emotions. The mind is the instrument of thought, and to function at its best, it must be free from tension and uptightness. When the mind tightens tense, up. There is no free flow of mental power. Only when relaxed can the mind produce the insights and intuitions that enable one to grapple successfully with tough situations. So most of us greatly need to learn to relax tensions.

It is pathetic how tenso many people are. I went into the big bus terminal in New York to take a bus to New Jersey. In this bus terminal is an escalator which, they say, is the fastest in the country. Starting to get on, I was rather rudely brushed How did I know he was that? Well, he had, a briefcase under his arm, and a worried look on his face. And believe it or not, I watched that man actually run up the fastest escalator in the United States.

On the street in New York I met a friend. When I asked the usual question, "How are you?", he went into a long and detailed dissertation on how bad he felt. "I'm so tense,, I can bardly take it," he complained. "This town is get-ting me down," he fumed. Waving his arms, in the general direction of the whole city he declared, "The very air of this town is full of tension."

"No, Bill," I said, "I must disagree with you. If you were to take a sampling of this air into a laboratory for analysis, you would of course find a lot of dirt in it, but they would not find a trace of tension. You see, tension is in the minds of people who breathe the air."

And that is true too tension is in the thoughts. Keep relaxed mentally, and you can handle the confusion around you;

Some fortunate people are learning effective techniques for mastering lension and developing the ability to relax. Let me tell you of the methods used by two of my friends. One is a famous television star. He is extremely busy and the entertainment business is, generally regarded as hectic, and split-secondish. This man told me that at intervals he simply goes away for a couple of days in the country. He puts his watch in a dresser drawer. "I eat when I'm hungry and sleep when I'm 'sleepy," he declared. He certainly has something there; to escape even for brief periods from the demanding, panicky domination of tinıe.

Another man; a prominent business executive, said that when people say to him, "You must be tired and tense," he replies, "No, I am fresh in God." It's an interesting phrase, "fresh in God". It must be true for this man had continuing menergy. Then he quoted that marvelous sentence, "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles: "they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint."

Holocaust

Religion Editor: I personally enjoy the articles you submit for the readership, and find this sort of news to be uplift-

Violence has come into our culture in many forms. Man turns against himself and his brothers in war, in lack of respect for others' rights, in lack of concern for the "least of our brethren," and in killing his own offspring through abortion. Man's inhumanity to his fellow man still remains a holocaust.

I recently went to a fund-raising event for a politician. When I menlioned the abortion issue, some said, "The poor have too many children. Let them have abortion," or Only Christians are against abortion ... They ought to be thrown to the lions," or "Abortion is or "Abortion is good. It prevents a lot of criminals from coming into the world."

Now these were supposedly "liberal" and edu-cated people, but they turned out to be quite close-minded to an intellectual discussion of the issue and preferred to espouse a prejudiced, un-charitable justification for abortion. There seem to be many "enlightened" people walking around in the dark. Jeannette Dreisbach Long Beach

Brash Fellow

Religion Editor: It is with great interest that I watched the news of the First Lady's remarks and the responses, notably of Chief Davis.

This brings to my recollection a series of discussions one summer in a state college in Worcester, Mass. We were wrestling with the question of morality. There were blacks, feminists, John Birchers, SDS people and professors with Ph.D.s. In stepped a brash young fellow who sat for a couple of minutes, just long enough to eatch the subject. Then he stood up and announced that we had no business discussing morality because it involves right and wrong and only God can pronounce this as right and denounce that as wrong. Therefore, he concluded that we must first produce God and let him tell us what is right and what is wrong or else forget the

He then walked out. I have been brooding over what that fellow said so dramatically but irreverently ever since.

What is truth? What is right and what is wrong? Can we derive a set of ethics from situations and apply them? Boes history ever repeat itself? History always repeats itself with so many new factors or so many old factors missing, and so many factors rearranged that the resemblance itself must be accepted by faith.

Asian layman heads Baptists

By KHARK SINGH

HONG KONG (AP) -The first layman president of the world's 30 million Baptists is a quiet, American educated Asian who once regarded life as without meaning or pur-

Today, David Yu-Kwong Wong finds his life so filled with purpose and meaning he is wondering whether he will be able to achieve all the goals he has set for his five-year term as president of the World Baptist Alliance.

Wong a 65-year-old Hong Kong architect, says he wants to promote international social justices and the brotherhood of mankind, and encourage further ecumenical cooperation among the world's different Christian bodies.

"After all, we are all Christians," he said in an interview.

Wong was elected president of the alliance in Stockholm, Sweden, last month. Besides being the first layman president, he also is the first Asian to head the alliance in its 70year history.

His election was interpreted by some as a sign of a rebellion by laymen against the church's ordained clergy. Wong scoffs at the suggestion.

"Every believer is a minister of God," he says. With the population of the world growing so fast, we must use every layman to carry the message of God."

Wong's disillusionment with life occurred in World War II when he served with the Nationalist Chinese Ministry of Communications on the mainland. He says he traveled through southeastern China, saw the miseries of war and was sickened.

"I lost touch with my Christian background, recalls."I became just like one of the fellows. We played mahjong and smoked heavily. I concluded that my life had little purpose."

He adds that for a man who was brought up in a strict Baptist family, he was troubled and went through a period of soulsearching to strengthen his religious beliefs.

"I knew I had to change

Grace

and I changed," he says. In 1949, when the Communists captured the Chinese mainland, Wong and his family fled to Hong Kong. He had only one U.S. dollar in his pock-

He took on various odd jobs and eventually became acquainted with a wealthy Hong Kong busi-nessman, Sir Ellis Kadoo-rie, who also had left China after the Communist takeover. Sir Ellis heard that Wong was an architect and asked him to design a house for him.

This led to other projects, and Wong today is credited with having a role in the planning and designing of most of Hong Kong's Baptist churches and buildings.
"I have been continually blessed by the Lord," says Wong. "The Lord willing, I am going to de-vote my whole life serving Him in whatever capacity He wants."

After graduation from a Baptist high school in Canton, Wong studied at California's University and the Califor-Institute Technology. He married his Chinese-American wife, Lillian, before returning to China in 1933. They have two children, a daughter who is married to a Presbyterian minister in Hong Kong, and a son, Norman, an electronics engineer with Hughes Aircraft Co. in Los Angeles.

To the friendless, every day brings trouble, but every day is a feast day to a contented heart. Better a humble lot, and the fear of the Lord present, than great riches that leave a man unsatisfied. Better to sit down to a dish of herbs seasoned with charity, than feast on fattened ox in ill-will. — Prob. 15:15-17.

Old films and staying up late go together

By DENISE KUSEL Staff Writer

The television people who decide what movies and shows will be shown and when would have us believe that prime time is 11:30 p.m. to sometime in the morning.
That's when all the old movies are shown. The great 1937 goodies with stars like Errol Flynn and Clark Gable — young, handsome and the movies weren't stifled with the necessary social ramifications we have since burdened ourselves with.

For example, when Marie Dressler smacked the hand of a some young imp for misbehaving, she wasn't concerned whether or not the lad would grow up hating her. It was back in the 1930s and perhaps we were naive about the ways of children. But I

Give me a good flick like "Hellzapoppin" — the 1911 Olsen and Johnson movie about two crazies who unfold their own plot when their director tells them they can't make a movie without a story, instructions some of the TV movie writers have forgot-ten. "Hellzapoppin" is a hodgepodge of humor and is screamingly funny.

If it's ever shown on TV again, it'll probably be aired about 3:20 in the morning double-hilled with a Dick Powell-Ruby Keeler movie.

Or how about a department store salesgirl (Laraine Day) who falls in love with a breezy Air Corps mechanic (played by Robert Young)? It's on at 3:20 a.m. Monday night (Tuesday morning). Ann Harding plays the mother in this 1946 movie, "Those Endearing Young Endearing

There's a paperback book available on TV movies — both old and new — for $1.95 from Ban-tam Books. It's called "Movies on TV" and is edited by Steven Scheuer. It contains 640 pages of plots, sub-plots and a list of the easts and is a compact guide to over 9,000 musicals, westerns, war stories, science fiction thrillers and comedies shown on the tube each Harry Belafonte, Ossie Davis and Ruby Dee offer up a salute to black pride at 12:30 p.m. on Ch. 2. The story, songs and poems featured on Today is Ours" revolve around a group of ghetto kids seeking to brighten a vacant lot by making it the site of their block party. At 1:30 p.m., Ch. 2 will be presenting the third-round play in the Sammy Davis Jr .. Greater Harfford Open. The golf tournament might be split into two parts due to a planned live coverage of the 106th running of the Travers at Saratoga Race Track.

Getting back to the old-time films," My Sister Eileen," a 1942 classic with Rosalind Russell, Janet Blair, June Havoc and Elizabeth Patterson, will air at 5 p.m. on Ch. 11. The story is about two Ohio girls who come to New York to make their fortunes. A great example of the superiority of old movies. The plot may be no longer believable — but wouldn't it be great if it were and isn't it healthy to dream..

Severing of Grand Jury links to D.A. urged

A parade of speakers Friday called for major reforms in the grand jury system, focusing on the need to separate the panel from its ties with the district attorney's of-

However, several other speakers, including Acting Dist. Atty.
John Howard, said it would be unnecessary and inadvisable to let the Grand Jury have its own counsel.

The speakers appeared at a public hearing staged by Supervisor Ed Edelman.

Supervisor Baxter Ward, who was one of the main proponents for appointment of independent counsels, said the present arrangement under which the district attorney's office advises the panel is "almost

Los Angeles Superior Court Presiding Judge Robert Wenke also urged separation from the district attorney's office, saying he believed the existing arrangement creat-ed a conflict of interest.

The district attorney is both an advocate before and an adviser to the Grand Jury and to me this is an obvious conflict of interest," Wenke said. "While different individuals in the district attorney's office perform the actual duties, I suspect that the first allegiance of most of the deputies would be to the district attorney and then secondarily to the Grand Jury.

Wenke stressed he was giving his own opinion and not that of the Superior Court.

Howard said the Grand Jury already gets adequate legal advice from the district attorney's office, the county counsel's office, the presiding judge of the Superior Court criminal department, other Superior Court judges and the attorney general's office.

He said there could be a num-the said there could be a number of difficulties and dangers in the proposal for an independent counsel for the Grand Jury. "For example, there are constitutional problems regardless the problems regarding the power to appoint, problems of two possible conflicting philosophies of prosecu-tion in the same county and the probability of substantial costs without any public benefit," How-

Other opponents of the separation plan suggested there would be allegiance problems with an independent counsel because that person would have to be appointed by some governing body such as the Board of Supervisors.

Among other reforms, many speakers said that witnesses at Grand Jury hearings should be allowed to be accompanied by their

Several speakers noted that the present system under which a person is allowed to leave the hearing room after any question to seek legal advice from his attorney outside the room was cumbersome and put the witness at a disadvanA number of legal profession speakers agreed that a witness should have his lawyer present at the hearings but only to advise the client on matters of self-incrimina-

There were mixed views on whether Grand Jury sessions should be public or remain secret as at present. Those favoring secrecy pointed out that there were often occasions where the Grand Jury would question a witness and then decide not to indict. An application for $3,394,000 in federal Community Development Act funds—one of the largest grants ever considered—will be heard Tuesday by the Long Beach City Council Community Development Committee.

The major portion of the funds will be $2,125,000 to finish the Poly High Redevelopment Project. which includes housing units and commercial shops in an area im-mediately north of the high school, according to City Manager John R.

Other large costs are $400,000 low-cost rehabilitation loans and grants, $325,000 for building code enforcement and $100,000 in planning and management costs.

AS OUTLINED in the grant application, there are 2,522 dilapidated housing units that are considered beyond repair concentrated in the older areas of the city.

Also, there are 11,276 dwellings in deteriorated condition requiring substantial rehabilitation and 10,442 units needing minor repairs.

Housing units in the city total 159,748, of which 10,806 are vacant, the report said. Community development researchers found that 29,163 households have an income below

Newport launches cleanup campaign for algae control

A five-day project to clean up Lower Newport Bay to control mounting algae and debris will start today and run through Wednesday, spokesmen for Stop Polluting Our Newport (SPON) have announced.

The spokesman blamed the dangerous rise in algae on the growing use of fertilizers in the harbor's watershed combined with last winter's heavy rains which washed the fertilizers into the bay.

Volunteers are being asked to scoop up scum and rubbish in bags that will be picked up by the City of Newport Beach and the Harbor

The city, local Chamber of Commerce, and nearby homeowners' associations are cosponsoring the cleanup with SPON.

SPON has asked that real estate developers be required to in-stall a filtering system to keep pesticides and fertilizers out of the bay. Development of nearby hills has stripped vegetation which acted as a natural filtering system, they claim, so that algae in the bay now feed on tons of fertilizer.

A 62-year-old man whose life was saved twice by fire department paramedics was freated to a surprise anniversary party at County Fire Station 94 in Lakewood Friday, one year after open heart surgery.
W. K. Witherell of 4407 Ironouis

The station's paramedics rushed to Witherell's house after his first heart attack in June, 1973. They were summoned again on Christmas night of the same year for his second attack.

The retired locksmith's heart had stopped and the paramedics revived it. After a lengthy stay at a hospital, he underwent the open heart surgery.

He was taken to the hospital by the paramedics two more times for less serious complications.

Since the surgery Witherell has visited the station regularly to chat with the firemen and listen to the station's radio calls.

Circus trainer treats 'em 'like people' Beasts are his friends

By JUDI MASON Staff Writer

It isn't everyone who can say he has tigers and elephants as "personal" friends. Gunther Gebel-Williams can.

As the animal trainer for the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, currently at the Long Beach Arena through Sunday, he earns his reputation as the exciting performer which thousands have dubbed him.

A native German, he has been involved with circuses since he was 12 years old. He didn't come from a long line of circus performers. It was when his mother became a seamstress for a German circus he became acquainted with people of the "Big Top."

When he rides a tiger atop an elephant or puts a mixed herd of horses and elephants through their paces, it's obvious that Gunther isn't an ordinary animal trainer.

IT SEEMS more appropriate to

Every day, when he visits the cages, he calls the tenants by name, holds "conversations" with them and pets them.

"This isn't crazy," he says, respect and trust of the animals." Gunther says the animals are 'NO ANIMAL can do eyerything. I have to know which ones can do what trick." This takes months of practice and, sometimes, as fast as one trick is learned, it is time to begin work on a new act.

The "elephant roundup" uses a teeterboard. An elephant vaults Gunther to the back of another elephant in a breathtaking perform-even the most frequent circus-goer.

He has been given the "Circus Performer of the Year" award by the American Guild of Variety Artists and had won several major European awards before joining Ringling Brothers in 1968.

"I enjoy my work, and this is what I want to do." IT REQUIRES hours of training each day to keep himself and his animals in shape. "Sometimes 24 hours a day,"

Gunther, tan and vigorous, exhibits warmth and a genuine concern for the animals.

As he walks past each cage, calling out to the tigers, they turn over and "answer" him as he speaks to them.

There have been some accidents, Gunther admits, but most of them were due to fights between

"AFTER ALL," he says, "these animals are deadly enemies and they have to be taught to work with each other."

The 39-year-old trainer is married and has two children. His wife Sigrid and 4-year-old son Oliver are circus performers too and travel with the show. His daughter Tina, 11, is away at school except during the summer.

Gunther Gebel-Williams is a marathon performer, and from acrobatics, to horseback riding, leaping with athletic grace, to commanding the animals with his voice alone, Gunther has put together an outstanding act.

Moving away from the caged tigers, he concludes:
"I love these animals, they are my life."

8ardener has to practice a few times before he finally masters the trick of knowing how much water to apply.

A tensiometer - mois ture meter — helps the gardener know when the soil is dry, but he has to measure the amount of water he continues to add until it has soaked only down to-the bottom of the planter. Thereafter, as the moisture meter indicates dryness does he water

Plants are like humans, they need sufficient moisture to quench their thirst, but should not stand in water.

A PROPER selection of indoor house plants to be grown together, is very important because some plants require more water than others. For instance, a sansevieria - "motherin-law" — plant is like a succulent plant. It is watered much less frequently than is, for examle, a spathiplyllum that likes lots of water. Here are two opposites.

A salesman in a nursery watered a group of indoor plants while the other salesman was on vacation. Three weeks later the sansevierias rotted off. The nursery lost about $800 in plants

A hobby gardener grew a spathiplyllum in a waterfall pool, with the broken pieces of clay pot surrounding the plant root (ball, so the movement of circulating water wouldn't wasy away the soil from the plant roots.

THE PLANT loved it. Yet had it been in a pot that set in a drainless container in which the plant pot bottom continued to stand in stale water, it would have shown a distress symptom. The leaves near the edge would begin to show brown spots, indicating a build up of alkali salts. Later the roots ends would begin to decay.

The plant pot should be taken out of the larger container an hour or so

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) __ Walter Scott, who had carlier accused his family of aiding fugitive news-paper heiress Patricia Hearst, denounced the FBI Friday and said he was going to New York City to "do what I can to help my brother."

Scott, a 42-year-old ex-Marine, said he changed his mind about giving the FBI further assistance because of their "incompe-tent handling of the investigation" and because of the psychological impact the investigation was having on his family.

HE ADDED that he "probably would not" cooperate with a federal grand jury that is scheduled to meet Aug. 19 in Harrisburg, Pa.

The grand jury is investigating reports that Miss Hearst hid last summer in a South Canaan, Pa., farmhouse rented by Micki Scott, wife of Scott's brother, Jack. Several key witnesses in the Hearst investigation, including Jack and Micki Scott. have been subpoenaed to testify

Walter Scott phoned the Philadelphia bureau of The Associated Press on Friday morning to refute charges by his family that he is an alcoholic and psychopathic liar who has been "in and out of mental hospitals."

The allegations were made Thursday by Scott's father from his Las Vegas, Nev., home.

Scott was later interviewed in a Camden hotel, where he sat on a rumpled bed in his undershorts. He

UFW censures Tunney for repressive' farm-work bill the union boycott of FRESNO (AP) — A resolution censuring U.S. Sen. John Tunney, D. Calli, for sponsoring "repressive" farm labor legislation was adopted by delegates to the United Farm Workers convention here Friday.

Tunney responded, say-ing be respected UFW leader Cesar Chavez and his efforts and regretted the action by farm work-

The resolution charged that Tunney has authored a secret ballot elections bill in Congress "which is aimed at disenfranchising farm workers and depriving agriculturel employes of the economic tools needed to compel recognition and negotiate con-tracts with growers." It said Tunney "has ignored California's model Agricultural Relations

Tunney replied: "Ulti-mately he (Chavez) and 1 share the same goal for farm workers — the right to bargain collectively and without fear."

He said he backed "reasonable and responsible measures" aiding farm workers and was "sorry they are brushed aside in the resolution."

The UFW delegates also adopted, as expected, resolutions commending grapes, lettuce and Gallo wines and condemning growers, labor contractors and Gallo. Act" which takes effect Aug. 28 to guarantee secret ballot representation elections for field hands.

Another resolution condemning narcotics deplored its threat to the children of farm workers.

Chavez, driving force behind the UFW's fluctuating fortunes, opened the convention to the strains of folk music and the chants of hundreds of dele-

"Chavez Si, Teamsters No," they yelled, applaud-ing their diminultive leadand rejecting the mighty union which slashed the number of labor contracts the UFW held to less than a dozen in the bitter summer of 1973. The 7,000 seat Convention Center arena floor was crowded with milling farm workers and sympathizers, many of them young people, some grizzled veterans of decades of backbreaking work under the hot California

SUD. Delegates, each representing workers on their home ranch, came from huge conglomerate farms like Tenneco and from small family-owned orchards scattered across the San Joaquin Valley.

Around the auditorium were scattered banners from Florida, Brooklyn, New Jersey, Detroit, Arizona - signed with the names of supporters of the UFW boycott of non-UFW picked lettuce, table grapes and Gallo wines.

Behind the podium a huge banner was pinned, depicting Chavez pointing at a rat dressed in a black sult and 10-gallon hat, clutching a sheet of paper labled "sweetheart con-tract" and a sack of money supposedly holding Teamsters pension

Chavez spoke only briefly before the business session began with reports on credentials and seating of the delegates here to vote on resolutions. But behind the shuffle of business lies the knowledge that Chavez and his union members are facing a crucial time for their organization.

In less than two weeks, California's new farm labor legislation takes ef-fect, which permits farm workers to petition for representation elections and effectively voids existing contracts, most of which are currently held

Little space on the agenda is officially given to a discussion of the new law and its ramifications, but Aug. 28 is probably on the minds of most of the workers assembled here this weekend. Have you tried a Classified Ad lately? It is a
